14 - 17 November 2020

Kyoto International Conference Center, Japan

APLAR 2020 JUNE UPDATE

ESTABLISH YOUR NAME IN THE FIELD OF RHEUMATOLOGY

Given the current challenges placed on healthcare providers during the COVID-19 pandemic, we have received hundreds of requests for APLAR 2020 to provide more time for abstract submissions – especially as regards the importance of still being published in the International Journal of Rheumatic Diseases (IJRD) this year! We are therefore delighted to announce one final extension of abstract submissions until 10

July. Whilst you may be worried about not being able to join us 'live' in Kyoto, the regional travel situation to Japan is improving on a weekly basis – and we will keep you informed. Whatever the situation in November, your abstract submission is definitely welcome.

You now have less than three weeks left to establish your name in rheumatology – and submit an abstract for APLAR 2020. Don't miss this opportunity to have your work peer-reviewed by pioneering rheumatic diseases researchers and industry partners across Asia Pacific!

Abstract submission deadline: 10 July 2020

Should you wish to update the content of your already-submitted abstract please be sure to contact info@aplar2020.com with your updated information.
